CATALOG DESCRIPTION:

This course is designed to give students an understanding of the foundation of both western civilization and patriarchy, especially as they apply to the status and relationships of men and women today. Students will learn of archaeological finds, including architecture, art, literature—both belles letters and otherwise—and human remains and also of social, philosophical, and historical theories that explain or attempt to explain the ideologies of ancient societies.
GENERAL EDUCATION GOALS ADDRESSED
[See last page for Course Competency/Assessment Methods Matrix.]

Upon completion of the course, the student will be able:
[Choose up to three goals that will be formally assessed in this course.]

☐ To apply analytical and problem solving skills to personal, social, and professional issues and situations.
☐ To communicate successfully, both orally and in writing, to a variety of audiences.
☒ To construct a critical awareness of and appreciation for diversity.
☐ To understand and use technology effectively and to understand its impact on the individual and society.
☐ To develop interpersonal capacity.
☒ To recognize what it means to act ethically and responsibly as an individual and as a member of society.
☐ To recognize what it means to develop and maintain a healthy lifestyle in terms of mind, body, and spirit.
☐ To connect learning to life.

EXPECTED LEARNING OUTCOMES AND RELATED COMPETENCIES:
[Outcomes related to course specific goals. See last page for more information.]

Upon completion of the course, the student will be able to:

Outcome 1: Identify significant events, people, ideas and historical trends that have shaped our Western culture socially, culturally and politically, particularly as feminism has come to inform study across disciplines.

Competency 1.1 Identify key historical trends, especially as they occur cross-culturally.
Competency 1.2 Demonstrate knowledge of how individual actions and historical trends are inter-related.
Competency 1.3 Understand and appreciate the multiple cause and effect relationships of historical trends and events.
Competency 1.4 Critically examine and place historical events, people, ideas and trends into a larger historical context.
Competency 1.5 Demonstrate their understanding of how the past influences the present.
Competency 1.6 Define feminism as a philosophical movement and demonstrate how it can change the lens through which one views gender and history.

Outcome 2: Examine the development of gender norms, identities, and roles as they are shaped by historical, political, and social factors, such as the representation of women in writings or art, whether philosophical, literary, etc., as well as coming to an understanding of how roles and gendered identities are social constructed.

Competency 2.1 Describe how gender identity is constructed, i.e., how biology does not dictate how a culture or an individual determines gendered identity—whether psychosocial, sexuality-oriented, etc..
Competency 2.2 Describe, define, and identify various types of gender roles, such as women as “gatherers,” men as “hunters,” etc.
Competency 2.3 Describe, define, and identify various periods of gender role development and theories of gender role development.

Competency 2.4 Describe, define, and identify the causes of change in gender roles’ development.

Outcome 3. Analyze various artifacts for what they say or may say about gender and gender roles.

Competency 3.1 Identify representative literary or philosophical works

Competency 3.2 Identify representative archeological finds

Competency 3.3 Critique works/finds or conclusions drawn from those works/finds regarding the messages they send about gender, i.e., complete gender analyses of the works for what they say or suggest overtly about gender and about what the secondary sources about them reveal

Competency 3.4 Critique and evaluate works from a historical perspective, relating the gender issue(s) to social, philosophical, and political context.

Outcome 4. Students will be able to examine historical, social, and philosophical and ideals and concepts both through written and oral expression.

Competency 4.1 Use and develop critical thinking skills

Competency 4.2 Gain an understanding of historical analysis

Competency 4.3 Gain an understanding of social analysis

Competency 4.4 Gain an understanding of philosophical analysis

Competency 4.5 Evaluate circumstances and events within the context of the times and the present

Competency 4.6 Organize historical concepts

Outcome 5: Students will learn to understand and appreciate the cultural diversity of Western civilization for its relevance to modern society and for its historical importance.

Competency 5.1 Recognize and understand how diverse groups have been treated and perceived throughout history

Competency 5.2 Recognize how and why cultural attitudes toward different groups have changed over time

Competency 5.3 Gain an awareness of the historical roots and problems of intolerance, sexism, and racist or ethnic bigotry

Competency 5.4 Gain a historical appreciation for the contributions and perspectives of diverse members of society

Competency 5.5 Place their own lives within the context of the cultural diversity and history of Western civilization

Outcome 6: Students will be introduced to various perspectives of ancient history.

Competency 6.1 Understand the idea that history is a scholarly interpretation of the past

Competency 6.2 Realize historical interpretations change over time

Competency 6.3 Understand why historical interpretations change

Competency 6.4 Think critically and explain why some historical interpretations are more convincing than others
Outcome 7: Students will be introduced to scholarly historical sources.
Competency 7.1 Explain the difference between primary and secondary historical sources
Competency 7.2 Identify a diversity of important historical sources
Competency 7.3 Analyze documents historically
Competency 7.4 Recognize the historical bias of some documents

Outcome 8: Express the way culture and ideology impact one’s gender development, and vice versa.
Competency 8.1 Explain the relationship between a culture’s artifact(s) and its ideologies, especially in regard to gender
Competency 8.2 Explain the relationship between one’s gender development and how it is expressed through an artifact or work of art and/or a change in or effect upon society

Outcome 9: Consider their own lives, and their own writing and thoughts, as the products of a gendered identity, in light of these historical perspectives, and be empowered to think critically on topics such as cultural and political values and norms.
Competency 9.1 Demonstrate a link between their lives (through career choice, assumptions about themselves or the world, etc.) and the cultural definitions of gender
Competency 9.2 Demonstrate a link between their own assumptions of gender and those assumptions made about gender historically
Competency 9.3 Analyze and evaluate their gendered lives through the theoretical perspectives provided in the course
