CATALOG DESCRIPTION and IAI NUMBER (if applicable):
A consideration of the development of Shakespeare’s dramatic genius through a study of selected comedies, tragedies, and chronicles. IAI Equivalent: H3 905
COURSE TOPICS AND CONTENT REQUIREMENTS:
Since the two units of the course cover two semesters and each is a structurally separate unit (i.e., LIT 2031 may be taken without the prerequisite of LIT 2021), each semester should be a structurally independent survey covering background, biography, and material representing the major facets of William Shakespeare’s career. Instructors may consider but are not limited to:

I. The apprenticeship period of Shakespeare’s early plays.
II. The mastery of comedy and history.
III. The poems
IV. The dark years: the tragedies and "bitter comedies."
V. The late plays: the "romances" and tragi-comedies.

Introductory background lectures on the Elizabethan period and the life and background of the author, as well as current and historical criticism of Shakespeare’s works.

INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS:

Instructional methods may include but are not limited to:

1. Analysis of literary texts through reading, discussion, and lectures.
2. Synthesis of literature with philosophical, political, and social movements and figures through reading, discussion, and lectures.
3. Reading and discussion of materials
4. Examinations, quizzes, group work, papers, and presentations papers, and presentations--intended not only to measure recall but to promote critical thinking and analytical skills, as well.
5. Close discussion of each play with special attention to crucial passages, overall structure, and position within the author's development.
6. Use of videotapes, films, Internet resources, and slide lectures to augment the student's appreciation of both the workings of the Elizabethan stage and the perception of Shakespeare, the man and vs. the playwright.
7. Highly recommended out-of-class assignments: A. Listening to fully professional, complete recordings of each play to develop the appreciation of Shakespeare's plays as live drama, many of which are available in the library.) B. Attending a live performance of one of the plays.
8. Writing as a learning tool (In-class and out-of-class writing assignments)
9. Student Conferences

EVALUATION OF STUDENT ACHIEVEMENT:
Grading scale at the discretion of the instructor.
1. Students must read assigned readings from primary and secondary sources.
2. Students must pass unit examinations, of which essays must be the majority.
3. Students must submit a paper, papers, and/or formal writings to a combined minimum total of fifteen (15) pages.
4. Students may give an oral presentation (either individual or group).
5. Students must attend and participate in class lecture and discussion sessions.
